The day has come
Jugement day
It's jugement day
In the north, computers are takin' over the world
In the east, humans are becoming slave to their own creations
In the south, people are running for their lives
In the west, you have to choose
You can run or you can hide
You can talk or you can fight
But remember
Everything you say can and will be used against you
So...
When they are in the north, east, south or west
Everything you say can and will be used against you
Jugement day
North, East, South, West
Jugement day
