I dreamed of you last night
You had a different face
Or maybe just a hair color
You're older and wiser
Yet more like a child
I was amazed to find you still there in the back of my mind
This dream was short
This dream was happy
This dream was short
This dream was happy

Perch your lover on a slow burner
If you wanna keep your loving woman
Perch your lover on a slow simmer
If it helps keep the love from growing dimmer
Now hold on hold out
You're still thrown against a wall
Never looking to be picked up or left alone to fall

Can ya touch me with your love?
Would I feel it if I trust enough?
Could it almost be a lust for life?
Would I feel it if I don't know if I sighed?

You could put it on a cold burner...
Deception never kept you any warmer
Truth is cooking on a slow simmer

The light's still strong even when it's dimmer
Yeah hold on hold out
You got thrown against a wall
Never wanted to be picked up or left alone to fall

Can ya touch me with your love?
Would I feel it if I trust enough?
Could it almost be a lust for life?
Would I feel it if I don't know if I sighed?

Troubled water's love fall down
But laughter found another home to go
If the truth in the heart gets put aside

Just let me go and then wait for the millionth time
Hold on, hold out
I got thrown against the wall
Wasn't looking to be picked up and left alone to fall

Better touch me just like love
Still feel it when I trust enough?
Could almost be a lust for life?
I could feel it though I don't know if I sighed?
I could feel it and I know it's alright
I could feel it and I know it's alright
It's alright...
