Just before the fall...
You see me run to a place that's facing hope again
To change the way I feel...
The way I feel
Missing line's not there to tell
The story that must show the way...
I was wrong, so wrong
I realize there is no way to return
A fantasy that opens to the world...
Of the union
Ever before, never again turn on you
Even the wait, if it is great comes with truth
Why must time be for so long?
Ever before, never again turn on you
Time not forgotten
Can it be regained?
With no restrictions
Could it be the same as before?
Is there a place where they can hide?
The journey now begins inside
Believing in the fantasy
It comes with no guarantee
Fear the resentment of what it is they'll say
Risking so many, what a price to pay like before
Is there a place where we can hide?
The journey now begins with pride
The union of the fantasy
It comes with no guarantee
Ever before, never again turn on you
Even the wait, if it is great comes with truth
Why must time be for so long?
Ever before, never again turn on you
The union of us two will be the one dream that is real
Together, forever that is all that we should feel
Fueled by the memories of a thousand lonely nights
We should go anywhere to live in the love of life
Ever before, never again turn on you
Even the wait, if it is great comes with truth
Why must time be for so long?
Ever before, never again turn on you
Ever before, never again turn on you
Even the wait, if it is great comes with truth

Why must time be for so long?
Ever before, never again turn on you
