I have fallen over
I am on the floor
Could you be the answer to a question i've ignored
Everything is you and you are lying here with me
I was cold and distant for a brief eternity
You told me
Ok now I feel like I slept for a hundred million years
And I don't want to live a life avoiding every fear
And I feel like i've slept for a hundred million years
While I was living in my cold year
Cold year (2x)
She was your addiction
You would disagree
She was my aviction for positivity
Something must have woke you up to make you walk away
Summer must have made you see the error of her ways
You told me
Ok now I feel like i've slept for a hundred million years
And I don't want to live a life avoiding every fear
And I feel like I i've slept for a hundred million years
While I was living in my cold year
Living in my cold year
Fall by the wayside
Out from the inside
I, alls well ends well
All you ever were
Saved by your sorrow
All you ever loved
You told me
Ok now I feel like i've slept for a hundred million years
And I don't want to live a life avoiding every fear
Well I feel like i've slept for a hundred million years
While I was living in my living in my
Living in my cold year
Cold year
Living in my cold year
Cold year
