I still remember you dressed in gray
Working undercover for the CIA
You were cursing Silber, living in Back Bay
Sailing on the Charles when I heard you say

Let's go down to Normal Town
Let's go down to Normal Town
Right down, down, down, down, down
Down, down, down, down

I washed you lover and scrubbed your face
Running from Miss Porter's you showed up one day
From a flat in South End where you made me strong
You said, "We're burning out at both ends", so I came along

Let's go down to Normal Town
Let's go down to Normal Town
Right down, down, down, down, down
Down, down, down, down

Hey, wouldn't it be great
To never worry 'bout your future, never asking why?
Hey, hey in a subdivision
Watching television and our lives go by

Let's go down to Normal Town
Let's go down to Normal Town
Right down, down, down, down, down
Down, down, down, down
Down, down, down, down
Down, down, down, down
