TBW

(Matt Coban)

Your face, the only one desire
I see it in your eyes
This hate you place inside
Your taste, the one thing you can't fake
When nothing left here matters
Your thoughts are closed to me
I know what you want off your mind
I've been waiting for so long
I've been alone half this time
Look at us now, we've wasted life
There's other things for now, there's other things for now

Everyday it's someone else
No ones lived this long to tell
Will anything stay the same?
Oh I can't think when you're ahead
Don't have you, don't have my friends
But its alright, I'll be alright
I know what you want off your mind
I've been waiting for so long
I've been alone half this time
Look at us now, we've wasted life
There's other things for now
I'm still alone don't ask me why
Look at us now, we've wasted life
There's better things for now, there's better things for

The Better World is now
