today is just a day like any other day you can't do this you can't do that why don't you give it up my son but i've got eyes that see a life that's good for me my mind explodes it makes me grow and it gives me something new but he keeps saying... you need me when your life was down you need me when your life begun
you need me when your life begun!! miles and miles of pain my heart is broken once again i'm coming home
it seems the time is right for now i think i will stop and turn around i hear the phone it rings he says all you do is sleep ooh he makes shiver when i'm thinking back

but i stand tall you see chasing my world of dreams my vision is clear i have no fear of all the things that make me happy but he keeps saying...

i don't have to stop after all
