you're everywhere I've seen you bleed HIGH in my home
I watch you and miss you all day long You keep me lying playing games with your pet brain I know why you told me you had the right to!
I've always thought this train was just some phase but you ride on you want me to ride around too fill your ego and bring you every inch of the way I know why you need to kill all the pain there sympathize with me cause here I am I am rolling on my head like a child you move so quickly to touch the flame you burn the vein goodnight all along you run into mirrors everything you do is coming fast getting strong on the wrong from the money driving in your head you're in the train your only need in life is flying in the wind, I know why you told me it was your right to you tell me to look and watch you go down in your vein, I know why, to shock me your time for reaching You're always slipping, slidding deeper when you breathe I walk by you force me to walk around you until the phone rings asking how much do you need you tremble on as if your tricks have been heard before sympathize with me cause here I am

you burn the pain goodnight as you glide through the river everyone just looks as if you're dead if I had the strength of ten men I'd pull your arms out and stick them on your head in pieces!!!
You drown me white washed crippled inside me my love is shoot to shame

your right from wrong it's emotion today release me life of no matter my life is here I will overcome your life away
but your life will roll
your life away
your life away
your life your way
you like it oh brother brother can I see you now my brother it's been to long since you've been away brother you're driving hard to get away brother I hope you've not gone too far
