When you sit by yourself at the end of the day And there's nowhere to go you got nothing to show for who you are Up is down and you fumble around for your drink
And it hurts just to think Then you open my letter

Dear love, I'm writing this letter now to tell you how I feel
When the words just won't come
feel
When talking just ain't right

The house where you live is no comfort to you And the life you lead is fast
There's no one to share it and you just can't bear it So you hide in your glass You go to pack up your bag and then you take a drag of that last cigarette
But you don't feel better, so you open my letter

Dear love, I'm writing this letter now to tell you how I
feel
When the words just won't come
feel

It's 11 o'clock and you need to talk but there's no one there but you Yes you've taken enough and it's gonna be rough, but you do what you must do So you stoke up a fire and you call me a liar then you throw it into the blaze
And you feel much better, then you open my letter

Dear love, I'm writing this letter now to tell you how I
feel
When the words just won't come
Dear love, I'll write you this letter now, I hope that you can see,

Just what you've done to me
