

Dallas Green

"Confessions"

Visit "Confessions" on MotoLyrics.com

Well i've been up for days, trying to find a way to write my confessions down.
Seems every line i write's a miss, at least this i'll admit i'll never hear that perfect sound.
But then the judge walks in and says "boy you cant pretend you got to be honest now".

a verdict has come in and it says i'm guilty for my sins.. this time i thought i could escape but then i findly felt the wait of my crimes
this passion its not love, infatuation never ends up right

.. at least i won't be alone tonight
.. cause i don't want to be alone tonight

cause i don't want to be alone tonight

the prosecution rests they have convincing evidence it seems i've been deceived so now i stand alone and wait for that first stone to be cast upon me my verdict has come in and it says i'm guilty for my sins.. this time i thought i could escape but then i finally felt the wait of

my crimes
this passion its not love, infatuation never ends up right

.. at least i won't be alone tonight, if convicted i will surely do my time at least i won't be alone tonight, cause i don't want to be alone tonight.

