I am just an empty slate write on me what you will I will accept everything no questions asked, no answers given everyone seemed so perfect but they all fell down go back to your utopia my thoughts amending, always descending you'll see things so much worse everytime you come back to my world why should you listen to me?

I looked into your eyes and for an instant I thought I had died overwhelmed by all these things I can do nothing about throw in the towel and sleep forever throw in the towel or continue to suffer
