Both feet together
slowly progressing
always in time,
don't count the feathers, just count the wings everyday counting

Everything's changing, I almost forgot it Then I remembered

I was throw in the boat

Cast out to sea, friendly with waves there were sharks below hungry for me
So I dangled my legs

I lit up like a match cause I bled gasoline
made a torch of myself
till the moon was mine stars made of me
Oh I lit up that sky
