This is the end, this is the moment when I see
Why I'm grateful of your presence here with me
This is the end, of my time here but forever
I will know that you are here when I am gone

And I am grateful for you, now I'm going
I'm running to my home
That's where you'll find me
Where I'm locked away inside
Where my hopes and dreams reside
Tonight I'm waiting to come and take you
Waiting to come and take your picture
So I can add you to that perfect life with me

This is the end, this is the moment that I live for Every dream I chased, I caught, or came and went
This is the end of being young and reckless
Of every friend that never let me down

And I am grateful for you, now I'm going
I'm running to my home
That's where you'll find me
Where I'm locked away inside
Where my hopes and dreams reside
Tonight I'm waiting to come and take you
Waiting to come and take your picture
So I can add you to that perfect life with me

Time is on our side if we use it right regrets are faded
Coming together is better than never letting go
Of the feeling you let in I can't imagine living alone
And containing my every little thought inside my head

Home, home, home
That's where you'll find me
Where I'm locked away inside
Where my hopes and dreams reside
Tonight I'm waiting to come and take you
Waiting to come and take your picture
So I can add you to that perfect life with me
