Everything's alright
It strength beyond strength to smile
I'm missing you like hurricanes
I give them names but their waves keep rolling
On and on and on and on
My sails are tattered
They're worn bone thin

I will be the king
All I need is the comfort of a stage
Smile and take a drag
Laugh and say we're only having fun

I watch the winter pass
From under the umbrella you left
The winds are dying a slow death
Cut my heart out but it's still beating
On and on and on and on
My sails are tattered
They're worn bone thin

You will be the queen
You will be guided by the sword
My prints are unique
You've been touched time and time again
