Your last words will not be heard,
there's too many of them that no one deserves
(Don't need your love)
And land mines hide in your lines, there's too many maps and not enough signs
(Don't need your love)

So lie awake, so wide awake
cause in my dreams I'm dying
You wait for light to kill the night
but is it worth me trying?

A deep breath out on the steps
it's only air you feel in your chest
(Don't need your love)
Okay you staked your claim
It's only blood you had in your veins
(Don't need your love)

So lie awake, wide awake
cause in my dreams I'm dying
the sun will rise and the moon will die
but is it worth me trying?

And it's so late and where will you stay?
It makes no difference because it's all a dream
and tomorrow I'll wake,
tomorrow I'll wake.
It makes no difference.
It makes no difference.

Lie awake, time will take all the dreams worth dying Close your eyes and the moon will sigh
but is it worth me trying?
