Woke up this morning with a pounding headache that made me crawl across the floor
There was nothing left from last night but the smell of flowers in my bed

[Chorus:]

Who could she be and what did we do all night?
My mind's all dried out
No time to rest
I can still feel her taste
Oh, she's the original sin

I found a note where she told me to meet her by the river in the twilight With nothing on
she was dancing naked,
to the rhythm of her heart

[Chorus]

She was so close
I could almost touch her Then she walked down into the water and slowly drifted away
into the sunrise
and she was gone

[Chorus]
