Listen to the sound of my dreams that's what I would say: will I find my way?

take a look inside of my mind that's what I could find: are we still on time?

if you're always right can you tell me why everything's unclear everything's unreal you can see me but I'm not here it doesn't mean that I'm gonna die
not before i say:

I should have come to you when you wanted me when yuo needed me and now your heart is free you should have woken me up on that morning I was yawning now I'm drowing driving in my car dreaming of L.A. that's what I would say: will I ever see you again?

everithing's unclear everything's unreal
you can see me but I'm not here
it doesn't mean that I'm gonna die
not before I say:

when yuo needed me and now your heart is free
I was yawning now i'm drowing but I can breath forever.... if you just want me to and I won't change with the weather if you still don't want me to

when you needed me and now your heart is free
you should have woken me up on that morning
I was yawning now i'm drowing

I was yawning now i'm drowing, drowing
