

Beyond The Embrace

"My Fall"

Visit "My Fall" on MotoLyrics.com

So I travel on this road of emptiness another day
When I hold these dust cloud dreams an instant 'fore they're blown away
Could it be that all this life's for is suffering?
'Cause the sea is deep and I'm drowning in all the tragedies
All the tragedies

So I bleed maybe once or twice to rid the seeds from my veins
All the seeds that harvest the pain, all the pain of my darkest days
And I've waited long enough for these things to change
And I have no regrets before I'll take the blade

As I lay down for the last time
And leave all emotions behind Thinking not of the ones I'm leaving
Just the hurt and the pain inside

So the wait is over, letting go tonight
The end of life comes calling, echoing my fall from grace
But I fear what lies ahead as my heart stops beating
The chance of life after death

So the wait is over, letting go tonight
The end of life comes calling, echoing my fall from
grace
But I fear what lies ahead as my heart stops beating
The chance of life after death [Incomprehensible]

After death
After death

Visit Beyond The Embrace page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.