Something inside me is consuming everything that I am.

Everything I've worked so hard to achieve.
The voice inside tells me that I am so lost.

This is who I am.
And it's who I will always be.
Here inside this world that I have made to, to get away.

But if I stand aside for one moment,
Maybe I'll see the light inside.
If I pray for all the things that I have lost between...
Between these worn hands

For this I'll pray,
To be something more than I am.
Here inside this world that I have made,
to get away from you.
But if I stand aside for one moment,
Maybe I'll see the light inside.
If I pray for all the things that I have lost between...
Between these worn hands

What will I become if I let this voice inside my head take over?
I can't, I won't
I can't, I won't

But if I stand aside for one moment,
Maybe I'll see the light inside.
If I pray for all the things that I have lost between...
Between these worn hands
