Who saw blue skies
in those dark eyes
must be the King of the Fools
must be the King of the Fools
yeah yeah the King of the Fools who saw the sunrise in those sweet lies it ain't the man in the moon it ain't the man in your room
let's give him his due he's full of tears already dry and a heart that never cries much bad breaks, bad checks

here comes a train wreck who's still singing a tune who's still singing for you
let's give him his crown he doesn't seem to mind these lonely nights with a smile that never dies
much
must be the King of the Fools...
