"Beneath The Shining Water"

I wait until the morning the sunrise hits my head Lost inside the moment of the new horizon
And in my heart ... I wonder
Will this last a thousand years
In the hope that you'll hold me for a day
We could drift away
beneath the shining water
We could drift away, beyond forever

I see her face a stranger and a life that slowly fades Lost inside my anger
I close my eyes and pray
And was it love they sold you
If this takes a thousand years
And you know that I'll hold you for a day

We could drift away
beneath the shining water
We could drift away
to the oceans in my heart
(to the oceans in my heart)

And in my heart, I wonder
Will this last a thousand years.
And I pray that you'll hold me for a day
And I could drift away
beneath the shining water
And I could drift away
beneath the shining water
And I could drift away
(forever, and ever)
to the oceans in my heart
(to the oceans in my heart)
(to the oceans in my heart)
(in my heart, in my heart)
