When He knelt there in the garden
Pouring out His heart and soul
When His sweat became His drops of blood
Knowing where He had to go
When they beat Him unmercifully
With the sin of every crime
It must have been the last thing on His mind

When they shoved the thorns into His brow
And He surrendered to God's will
When He crumbled underneath His Load
Walking up Calvary's Hill
When He looked about Golgotha
At the mountain He must climb
It must have been the last thing on His mind

(CHORUS)

Who could know His pain
Or understand the price He paid
So you and I could live
Under God's Amazing Grace
As His blood flowed
As His heart broke
As He freely gave His life
It must have been the last thing on His mind

Then He felt those fusty nails
Tearing through His Flesh
When He cried Thou forgive them
Struggling for one last breath
And when God left Him hanging there
To bear the sin of all mankind
I'm sure you were the last thing on His mind

Who could know His pain
Or understand the price He paid
So you and I could live
Under God's Amazing Grace
As His blood flowed
As His heart broke
As He freely gave His life
You must have been the last thing on His mind

As He hung there on the tree

Dying for you and me

It must have been the last thing on His mind
