"Northmen Of The New World"

Approaching steadfast from the eastern old world
Are the men which only time knows Wind in their sails, flags at full mast
From the old world has the new world arose

Northmen of the new world stand on guard for the north new world's glorious vast strands
We look to the sky, high above towering trees high above plains and mountains; aurora borealis so free
Northstar guide us, pride us, provide us With the strength to go on

Never will we fail, always prevail Always the true north, strong and free...
