I tell you here
of all the crimes and hours broken what never came, will never be the same I tell you this, I tell you what the mind has been flooded all the exits sealed a poison set to enter the unforgiving me

probes and infiltrators infiltrate me

it's in these hours we forget ourselves within a fire that consumes itself no need for your defenses my anger wall will hold take your steady pride in monotony and beat

invaders and corruptors invade me

a supernova of flame and fire this broken spirit, blind at heart bite down hard on frustration the siege that can't be broken this hollow flame of fear

so close without connection locked inside the sphere I take the blame upon me and scream at what I see
