Darren Hanlon - He Misses you too, You know?

Hello Stranger, It's been a while since I last heard your voice

It seems like only, yesterday, when we both shared a house

Now there's a thousand miles, of phone cable between us

But I can tell that your not smiling

Now i'm going no where, and you're gonna tell me the real reason for your dail.

So You're love has gone away

By now you'll be sitting somewhere up on a plane

In an aisle seat with no view

But I can promise you right now, that he'll be thinking of you.

Because from what I can tell, he seems a nice fella

And I can see your good together

You both look like your straight out of an insurance commercial

As i drove away

You both wave from your drive way

And I know it's hard, to be gun hoe

When your usual reffered to as his better half

But you're still the girl who chops onions wearing swimming goggles

Your still the same girl you were before.

So your love has gone away

By now your hostess will be clearing up what's left on his tray

But who likes airplane food?

I can promise you right now, that he'll be thinking of you

Thinking of you

So you're love has gone away

His not expecting you to wait for him

There'll come a day, where he'll hang up his travelling shoes
And if your still around, I'm sure he'll come looking for you
Looking for you.
