The other team was rather worried when we first arrived
And we heard a little boy was kept alive
The radio was dead but the phone rang twice
And the air was kissed by a billion butterflies
So very nice
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
Looking at you
Looking at you
The commander of the team was a one eyed girl
She would teach us how to kill a firebird and save the world
She started crying when she heard the little boy was dead
So we stopped, packed our bags, and went to bed
Just like that
And we feel the need the to sit and talk

About the ones we left behind
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
Looking at you
Looking at you
And we feel the need the to sit and talk
About the ones we left behind
The little boy we heard was dead
But still the planet has survived
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
And you know it ain't easy looking at you
Looking at you
Looking at you.
