I know that yesterday is gone
And it won't come back to me
But I miss it after all
It never really lasts as long
As we'd meant for it to be
There'll be twists and turns to pull at us
And tear into the seams
But I'll meet you where we started once again
Cause I miss you

Maybe we were right
To carry on, to carry on
Even when they said we'd be undone
Take it as a sign
We can still go on, we still belong
Even when the worst is yet to come

We're only waiting on the sun
To clear away the haze
Cause we can't see where we've gone
From where we started, where we strayed
And where we're meant to be
There'll be ash and dust to bury us
But I will keep you clean
And I'll meet you where we started once again

Maybe we were right
To carry on, To carry on
Even when they said we'd be undone
Take it as a sign
We can still go on, We still belong
Even when the worst is yet to come

Then when tomorrow comes
And we show everyone
What they can never take away

Maybe we were right
To carry on, To carry on
Even when they said we'd be undone
Take it as a sign
We can still go on, We still belong

Even when the best is yet to come
