Pacific sun, you should have warned us, it gets so cold here

And the night can freeze, before you set it fire

And our flares go unnoticed, diminished

Faded just as soon as they are fired

We are, we are intrigued

We are, we are invisible

Oh, how we've shouted, how we've screamed

Take notice, take interest, take me with you

But all our fears fall on deaf ears

Tonight, they're burning the roads they built to lead us to the light

And blinding our hearts with their shining lies

While closing our caskets cold and tight

But I'm dying to live

Pacific sun, you should have warned us, these heights are dizzying

And the climb can kill you long before the fall

And our trails go unmarked and unmapped and Covered just as soon as they are crossed

We are, we are intriguing

We are, we are desirable

Oh how we've shouted, how we've screamed

But all our fears fall on deaf ears

Tonight, they're burning the roads they built to lead us
to the light

And blinding our hearts with their shining lies

While closing our caskets cold and tight

But I'm dying to live

Oh how we've shouted, how we've screamed

But all our fears fall on deaf ears

Tonight, they're burning the roads they built to lead us
to the light

And blinding our hearts with their shining lies
While closing our caskets cold and tight
But I'm dying to live
