our story's old, older than the wind it's been decided for years how can we pretend that we all know just how it's gonna end
rescue me in the middle of the ocean crashing down, it's always hard to breathe some say, it's easier to give up on it i say, it's time to rescue me lost and lonely people standing by, afraid to try some of them here, the same as you and i the differences are all but left behind so i need you now rescue me in the middle of the ocean crashing down, it's always hard to breathe some say, it's hard to make the changes rescue me and i'll never be the same rescue me in the middle of my darkest hour time will tell i never really had the power some say, it's easier to give up on it i say, it's time to rescue me we gotta get out, how foolish i would feel to say it's all been a waste of time we may lose and we may win but like the sun, we will rise again but until then rescue me in the middle of the ocean crashing down, it's always hard to breathe some say, it's hard to make
rescue me in the middle of my darkest hour time will tell i never really had the power some say, it's easier to give up on it i say, it's time to rescue me rescue me in the middle of the ocean
