

Daughtry "You Don't Belong"

Visit "You Don't Belong" on MotoLyrics.com

Oh a tiny kid in an empty tomb
I always find away to pass the time with you
In dark and smoky rooms
I can hardly stand the fumes
Telling me that you mean no harm
Just stand me up like a crunch and knight in armor
But only when I'm gone
And I've been away too long

No
You don't belong to me
I think you've lied to me
With my back against this wall
It's time to be strong
No
You tell me anything
Look what you done to me
Still I just tell myself
That tomorrow you'll be long gone

Long gone

Any given time or place
I never will forgive the disgrace
On your face all full of love
Will it ever be enough
Ten feet tall and bullet proof
I never thought I had a thing to lose
Well it looks like over all
I'm gonna have to choose

No
You don't belong to me
I think you lied to me
With my back against this wall
It's time to be strong
No
You tell me anything
Look what you've done to me
Still I just tell myself
That tomorrow you'll be long gone

You will pass the time
But I'm doing fine
All mine, all mine
So there's no good reason
Why to live such a lie
Tell me if I've been followed
Way too long

No
You don't belong to me
I think you lied to me
With my back against this wall
It's time to be strong
No
You tell me anything
Look what you've done to me
Still I just tell myself
That tomorrow you'll be long gone

You don't belong to me
I think you lied to me
With my back against this wall
It's time to be strong
You tell me anything
Look what you've done to me
And still I tell myself
That tomorrow you'll be long gone

Long gone

Visit Daughtry page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.