Esta es la leyenda de Xanadu

You'll hear my voice, on the wind, 'cross the sand
If you should return, to that black barren land that bears the name of Xanadu

Cursed without hope, was the love that I sought Lost from the start, was the duel that was s'posed to win her heart in Xanadu

And the foot prints leave no traces Only shadows move in places where we used to go
And the buildings open to the sky
All echo in the vultures cry as if to show
Our love was for a day
Then doomed to pass away
In Xanadu, in Xanadu, in Xanadu

In Xanadu, in Xanadu, in Xanadu

What was it to you that a man laid down his life for your love
Were those clear eyes of yours ever filled with the pain and the tears and the grief Did you ever give your self to any one man in this whole wide world
Or did you love me and will you find your way back one day to Xanadu

You'll hear my voice, on the wind, 'cross the sand
If you should return, to that black barren land that
bears the name of Xanadu

Xanadu, in Xanadu, in Xanadu, in Xanadu
