Grab a handle
Twist it 'til something drops
You're up when you're winning
You feel like your head's gone soft

Even though we spend our time
Without a chorus

Little twitches
Give him a special edge
You can't understand it
Transparent and soft in the head

Even though we spend our time
Now here's a chorus

You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions
You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions

Take advantage of the sound
Lead to walls leading to minds

You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by
You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by

You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by
You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by

You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, try to understand
You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, try to understand

You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by
You've got all these great answers
To all these great questions, still I feel them passing
me by
