I smoke my face in night after night
To numb the pain and stop the world spinning round and round But how was i to know that in my mind I'm not so pure Look into my eyes you can see how many different people

You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental
You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental

I'm not a drinker
I try it every night I force it down to throw it up and start all over again But I will climb a tower just to stick my flag on top And look down on everyone help me to salute the people

You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental
You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental
You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental
You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental

You have tried to resist the pain but you know you're not alone no you know you're not alone I have tried to resist the pain but now I'm all alone and now I'm all alone

You shone a light on my life
now I'm just sentimental (repeat to end)

Are you irrelevant? You've fallen to pieces How do you become one again?
Are you an ephant? You'll crush me to pieces
How do you do?
