Once upon a time
When the world was just a pancake
Fears would arise
That if you went to far you'd fall

But with the passage of time
It all became more of a ball.
We're as sure of that
As we all once were when the world was flat

So I wonder this
AS life billows smoke inside my head
This little game where nothing is sure, oh
Why would you play by the rules?
Who did, you did, you
Who did, you did, you

When was she killed
The very last dodo bird
Was she aware
She was very last one

So I wonder this
As life billows smoke inside my head

This little game where nothing is sure, oh
Why would you pkey by the rules?
Who did, you did, you
Who did, you did, you
You say who did, well you did, you

If all the things that you are saying love
Were true enough but still
What is all the worrying about?
When you can work it out
You can work it out

Oh I wonder this
AS life billows smoke inside my head
This little game where nothing is sure, oh
Why would you play by the rules?
Who did, you did, you

Who did, you did, you
You say who did, well you did, you
