An optimists heart, connected to a pessimists mind
A glitch in the matrix
We secretly longed to find Victims remain victims
'Cause they behave like victims
Don't know how I've come through me
I wore a bullet proof vest

The building dances like jelly just before it falls on top of me,
The rubble shrouds my eyes with dust but it's the light beyond that I can See
A fair hand touches all my poor weathered finger tips,
And you were the greatest gift that life could ever give
a man
A man like me
And I've been in hibernation for way to long.

Seasonal affectives,
Drunken disorder
Let's hide away in the european lagoon
Somewhere across the border
I'll trade a kiss for a promise
A promise never cracked by dishonesty

The building dances like jelly just before it falls on top
of me,
The rubble shrouds my eyes with dust but it's the light
beyond that I can See
A fair hand touches all my poor weathered finger tips,
And you were the greatest gift that life could ever give
a man
A man like me
And I've been in hibernation for way to long.

Come take my hand
Put on my coat
We'll shelter from rain
Under my favourite oak tree
I'll keep you warm

I'll part with my heart for you
I'll part with my heart for you...

The building dances like jelly just before it falls on top
of me,
The rubble shrouds my eyes with dust but it's the light
beyond that I can See
A fair hand touches all my poor weathered finger tips,
And you were the greatest gift that life could ever give
a man
A man like me
And I've been in hibernation for way to long.
