

David

"Stop Living The Lie"

Visit "Stop Living The Lie" on MotoLyrics.com

He sits alone at a table in a small cafe
Drowning his tears in a bottomless cup of coffee
And hes tumbling into his thoughts
His memories are all tied in knots
And who is going to save him
No one wants to know him

She stands alone in a place where no one knows her name
She catches them staring they turn around and vanish
the frame
And shes nursing her head and her pride
She died long ago deep down inside
And who is going to save her
No one wants to know her

[CHORUS]
I cant believe that youd pull on a sleeve when you cry
You stick in the knife then give the kiss of life
Live the lie
And we all have a saviour
So do yourself a favour
Stop livin the lie

He sits alone and looks up to the eyes of an angel
She catches him staring and smiles the smile of an angel
And she asks him if this chair is free
He said yes will you sit here with me
No one would have saved him
We should all learn from them

[CHORUS]
Lie.... lie.... stop livin the lie

Visit David page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.