I find it hard to believe in you honey
I can see it's a joke but I can't find it so funny no more
Oh we've made it there
A rush for the gold, the promised land
We lay there in silence
Under the stars and the milky way

But every time we kiss I can see you turning
Every time we talk another line gets cut
Every single word all torn and messed up

Our song came along, we couldn't help but to sing it
Know the words by heart
But I can't find its real meaning no more
Oh we taught the prayer
Inside neon lights, we danced in there
The sound going higher, higher,
The backdrop pulling us in

Every time we kiss I can see you turning
Every time we talk, the phone line gets cut
Every single word gets torn and messed up

Every time we kiss I can see you falling
Every time we laugh I can hear it dying
We've tried it all before but we just ain't learning
We ain't learning
We're just hurting
Each other
Again

Every time we kiss I can feel it turning
Every time we talk I feel a little dead
Every single word gets worn to the thread
It's messed up

Every time we kiss I can see you falling
Every time we laugh I can hear it dying
We've tried it all before but we just ain't learning
We ain't learning
We're just hurting

Each other
Again
