I held the gun as it went off
'Cos I knew how much it would turn you on And I told you things that no one knew Still I lied to the world just to be with you Then I kissed you and I saw your crying eyes And nothing is as real as it may seems I see them, they're all leftovers from my dreams And they're giving in

We're so much better than this, better than this and still we go on
We're so much better than this, better and still go wrong
we go on
Together we come undone
Over the sea, the sex and the sun

So we keep dancing to the beat
But it doesn't ever feels to be complete
I see this, All this forbidden love and those crying eyes I hear the bell announcing another round, my head is buzzin'
You hit me like a man but you should know, it feels like nothing

We're so much better than this, better than this and still
we go on
We're so much better than this, better and still we go wrong
we go on
Together we come undone
Over the sea, the sex and the sun
Now am I the only one?

We keep doing it wrong.
