I don't know how
I don't know where or when
Something long ago and far away
Let me to the place I am today
The hours move
The seasons turns and then
You uncover secrets in my heart
That had always been there from the start

I was born to love you till I die
Till I bid the world goodbye
You are the only home my restless heart will ever know
Even when the stars all burns away
I will love you come what may
You will born as if somehow you knew
That I was born for you

I wouldn't change a single thing I done
Even waste moment I retrace
Knowing it will lead to your embrace
Beginning never end once they begun
Ours began a thousand years ago
Moving toward the only thing I know

I was born to love you till I die
Till I bid the world goodbye
You are the only home my restless heart will ever know
Even when the stars all burns away
I will love you come what may
You will born as if somehow you knew
That I was born for you
