Evereverything we touched was golden
Everything we did was right
Every little single moment
Could carry us trough every night
Now everything I see reminds me
Of all that is said and done
If you care to look around
Then you'll see me going down
Can't you hear me calling?
Can't you see me falling?
I am lost without you here
Always and forever
All I can remember
Echoes of the days when
Everything we touched turned into gold
Don't you try to fix what's broken
No one else can take your place
Trying to save myself from choking
Just wish that I could see your face
Now everything I see reminds me
Of all that is said and done
If you care to look around
Then you'll see me going down
Can't you hear me calling
Can't you see me falling
I am lost witout you here
Always and forever
All I can remember
Echoes of the days when everything we touched turned into gold
I'm calling
I'm falling
I'm lost without you in my arms
I'm calling
I'm falling
Can't you hear me calling?
Can't you see me falling?
I am lost without you here
Always and forever
All I can remember
Echoes of the days when

Everything we touched turned into gold
