Locked in and I swear that this will be the year
Summer took forever but it's finally here
Stay for the weekend then we'll go
Last night the only thing I dreamed out
Was waking up, packing up and getting out
This is the season to leave home.

I'm the master of disaster I can see forever after I'm a time bomb
The clock is ticking faster and my heart is filled with laughter so lets get it on
But time is getting up and getting over everything
And you know and you heard and you got exactly what you came for.

Today's the day we run away
Tonight our dreams, hold tight, believe.

Look out the window there's eternity Pointing me to exactly where I need to be I'll leave my ghost here to stay
To tell you hold on you can make it through And let love and loneliness inspire you
Life is your movie get away
My past looks like my future and my futures a reflection of my presentence
There's undercover undiscovered roads that lead you home to new existence
But time is getting up and getting over everything
And you know and you heard and you got exactly what you came for.

Today's the day we run away
Tonight our dreams, hold tight, believe

We run away.
