Blast off through stars and through time
We're gonna see everything take off tonight
To the light of the neverending

Blue prints and maps will take us flying to forgiveness
And happiness is all around us I've built this machine that takes us anywhere we wanna go
This is the last time we will ever feel alone

Blast off through stars and through time
We're gonna see everything take off tonight
To the light of the neverending
I love this life, you know it channels straight from the inside,
Showing on the outside
I'll let this light shine through every soul that we come across
And destination that we land on.

Blast off through stars and through time
We're gonna see everything take off tonight
To the light of the neverending
Blast off through stars and through time
We're gonna see everything take off tonight
To the light of the neverending
