Hazed memory of forgotten stability constructed meaning to project reality as we all too often assume an amoral world morality our concept of dignity constructed ethic protestant relic is that factually truth? truths perpetuated created unwittingly justice a false concept to create security illusory as we all too often assume an amoral world exhumed what should i take as real? abandoned to a false world's foundations where does that leave me? able to ascribe truth truths perpetuated created un wittingly justice a false concept to create security as we all too often assume an amoral world
