Without Letting Go
by Day Method

All this time we've never seemed to realize that we've left behind
All the things that really matter
If we try we can, however, take back what was lost, if you're ready
We can change their minds

With every choice we make the action will someday soon reciprocate
As something we'll either love or we will hate If ever there was a time to think this through I say we do Because everyone at one time or other wants to have some fun
But slowly this has begun to overcome the purpose of what we're really looking for there's so much more

And all this time we've never seemed to realize that we've left behind All the things that really matter

If we try we can, however, take back what was lost, if you're ready (If you're ready)
We can change their minds Cause you belong to something that was meant for more than this Too long we've tripped on all these pointless things But now it's time to take control without letting (without letting)
Without letting go

There's a beating heart inside each and every one of us that starts At finding the truth of who we really are We can't just blindly throw away the hope we hold / to keep this mold Cause we're a step away from choices to make that will decide our fate It's not something we can leave up to debate
We can't simply let our idle lives pass by let's do this right
