Old man, dirty old man, walking down that mile long road Got a suitcase in his hand but he's got to place to go His shoes don't fit his coat ain't clean His pockets are empty the world is mean He gave himself imparenting He sleeps in woods he bathes in streams

The time i waste is the only time i feel alright, the time i waste is the only time i feel alright

I'm gonna show the world what's wrong with my rights I'm gonna scream "fuck the world" 'cause it's my right

Sorta like that time you were a scapegoat, a cushion full of pins And everyone says you're a failure so they push the needles in Who's the prisoner who's the freak who's the loser of the week Desensitized demoralized i got my rights i got my pride

The time i waste is the only time i feel alright, the time i waste is the only time i feel alright

I'm gonna show the world what's wrong with my rights I'm gonna scream "fuck the world" "fuck the world" 'cause it's my right

With the chains the restrain that block and hold me down to the world that binds and controls me Sift through the trash that was left here for us Stumble to the dump as i try to find a purpose Back to the start where the property got lost All raped by the state by the pigs by the boss

I swear this lock has come undone I swear this lock has come undone

With the chains the restrain that bind and hold me down to the world that locks and controls me Sift through the trash that was left here for us Stumble to the dump as i try to find a purpose Back to the start where the property got lost All raped by the state by the pigs by the boss

The time i waste is the only time i feel alright The time i waste is the only time i feel alright
