"If It Wasn't For You"

I could be losing my mind with nobody to talk to Looking in the mirror trying to figure out what's true
When I have no direction
You show me more than my reflection

I been living a lie
Thinking what's wrong, what's right
I got to thank you, if it wasn't for

I been serving sometime in prison
With my own mind

Everyday a blessing to wake up
We be living, stressing ma life to built up
It's like the mountain is too high to climb up

If something, something, something
Does anybody know what
'Cause I don't know it's such a long road
For every step I'm taking, I wanna thank you
For never leaving me and I can't just let you go
