"Love Is Enough"

When it feels like life is crashing down
You're lost and waiting to be found
Love is enough, love is enough
When you're in the darkest cloud around
Watchin' raindrops falling to the ground
Love is enough, love is enough

I believe you have to give more than you take
I believe with all my heart anything's possible
Love is enough, love is enough
And I still forget it, yeah I still forget it sometimes

When you take a look inside yourself
You wish that you were someone else
Love is enough, love is enough
You're all alone, there's nothing left
You're losing hope with every breath
Love is enough, love is enough

Just believe that nothin's gonna stand in your way
Just believe with all your heart anything's possible
Love is enough, love is enough
And I still forget it, yeah I still forget it sometimes
I believe you have to give more than you take
I believe with all my heart anything's possible
Love is enough, love is enough
Love is enough, love is enough
