I'll play the fool tonight
And bite my tongue
'Cause everything that makes this right
Disappoints

You're standing there
Unaware darling
Of what you're worth
Unaware

I'll take a chance this time
And speak my mind
Never to say
What if

You're standing there
With your hair darling
Across your face
Unaware, so unaware

Time will go on as it should
Never changing shape

Will you hold on to the things
That hold you back?

When the people turn and the lights fade away
Will you have lived according to their way?
That's not living at all
If you don't take this chance to fall

Time will go on as it should
Never changing shape
Will you hold on to the things
That hold you back?

Time will go never changing
Darling what about you?
