

Days Divide "You Should Know"

Visit "You Should Know" on MotoLyrics.com

When I look at you How could you look at me? I'm thinking now all that you are Is much more than I'll ever be. It seems today, I'll never catch a break. I'm feeling like all that I am Is all the mistakes that I've made.

You're you far away Inside of memories, but when I listen you say

What do you have to fear when you're left all alone? In the darkest of days, when the night's growing cold, you're safe in the arms of a love all your own. In the darkest of your days, there's a love that you should know.

I remember when We were innocent, now they're telling us All that we are Is all of the places we've been. When the seconds slow And you're standing on your own, you'll start coming back Into the arms of love that you should've known.

When you're feeling lost and your hope is gone, your scars never seem to fade. But there is more to you - there is more to me.

The past doesn't change a thing.

Visit Days Divide page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.