"Charity Burns Green"

The people here don't move
They sit on their hands and wish their lives away
As trees whisper deception across the land
Everyone cries 'cause they just Don't have the sense to understand

Let's dance
And celebrate this ghost town
As we fill the streets with charity
Then burn them to the ground

The children here don't play
They stare at their toys and dream of turning grey
As sweet rain circles down the drain
Everyone cries 'cause their children are insane

Fix their eyes so they can see
The heartland is turning green
Fix their eyes so they can see
Showing lives they'll never lead
